

SPENCER DIXON

RECOMMENDATIONS

“Spencer is an incredible teammate who makes tremendous efforts to understand the needs of his clients, hear ideas from his creative counterparts, and execute designs that incorporate both (while adhering to the most up-to-date — or even forward-thinking — standards for digital content development). He balances the business need with careful attention to user experience by being logical, level-headed, dedicated, innovative, and considerate, all at once.”

Content Strategist, Pluralsight

“Spencer is one of our top producers and strongest presenters. I can rest easy when I know a brand is working with Spencer because I know they’re in the hands of one of our best. I’ve seen him in action as the creative force behind campaign videos for Toms, site designs for Garmin, creative reviews for Oakley and curating great UI for Smith Optics and hands down, exceeds expectations every time. He’s articulate, talented, committed and passionate about the user experience being the best it can be. Spencer is the type of employee every manager wishes they had.”
